Odessa Theological Seminary: The Bible college remains closed, but the campus is used for storage and humanitarian distribution. College employees who have remained, and church members help to unload and distribute humanitarian relief. The following pictures and text are their account of working in Odessa.

The truck is parked in front of my office.

Dear brothers and sisters. There are not enough words to thank you for your support of the churches of Ukraine in this difficult time of war. Millions of Ukrainians have become internally displaced persons or refugees. Thousands were left homeless. The humanitarian crisis is in many areas.

From the first days of the war, the churches of the Odessa region joined in the work of helping people affected by the war. About 180 tons of humanitarian aid have already passed through the arms and shoulders of the brothers and sisters.

These are products, medicines, hygiene products, mattresses and much more - which is extremely necessary.

Every day the brothers and sisters of the churches of the Odessa region gather to pray for the mercy of God and the salvation of the Ukrainian people. The people who receive help, thank God with tears in their eyes. Thanks to your financial support, we are able to help. We truly thank you for your sacrifice and willingness to serve the people of Ukraine in this difficult time.

These are the church members that we normally work with in Odessa. We have helped transfer funds for their work.
